Some Brown Spot is beginning to show up on some dark tobacco Generally, we think of Brown Spot as a minor disease, but if there is a rainy period near harvest time, it can become severe.

The disease starts off as brown pin points but grows rapidly into round areas that are frequently marked by concentric rings. Looks a lot like blight on tomatoes.

Once the disease starts, the only thing that can be done is harvest the crop as quickly as possible.

Monday, twenty - six bulls were moved into the Red House Bull Evaluation Center. Beef cattle owners will want to stop by and see these animals.

We have received a number of wheat samples to be tested for scab.

We've run into some problems. The lab personnel at the Virginia Department of Agriculture tell us that there are up to nine different kinds of fungus on the wheat and it will take 6 to 10 days to test for each fungus.

Need money for a vacation, a new boat, new furniture for the home, then strawberries may be the way to get just what the family wants.

Most families can handle one-quarter of an acre of berries without hiring outside help. In many areas of the state, berries are selling for 60 cents a quart or more.

What varieties? At Virginia Tech, research shows Earliidawn, an early variety, to be best, the midseason variety Red Chief was best for midseason berries, and Marlate and Redstar were tops for late season harvests.

March is a good time to transplant berry plants in Appomattox County.

Most cattle owners will tell you that horn flies are relatively easy to control but Face flies are another story.

The best control of face flies comes with the proper use of dust bags. This is based on research in Virginia. In 1971, we were able to obtain 76% control of face flies on dairy cattle and 52% control of face flies on beef animals when using a dust bag.

Dairy cattle were forced to use the bag twice daily following milking which accounts for the higher control.

3% Clodrin and 1% Co-RAL are approved for beef and dairy cattle.

The federal order banning the use of DES in beef feeds does not apply to the use of DES implants at this time.

For your background information, some of the scientific societies are preparing an attack on the present legal principal of "no tolerance". We will hear considerably more on the residue subject in the next year.

Important New Law For Farmers

by G.L.James, Extension Agt.

The new safety law went into effect on 1971. The Williams Sterger Occupational Safety Act of 1970 may seem like a distant problem to many farmers, but it could be only as far away as the first fatal accident. OSHA pertains to all agriculture employers who employ one or more persons who have been covered by the law, which is intended to insure a safe workplace for every worker.

Unlike many industries covered by OSHA, there are only a few standards that specifically apply to agriculture.

The federal standards that presently apply to farmers include the requirement that all vehicles designed to travel at less than 25 mph and operated by employees show an SMV emblem. Other standards related to agriculture cover sanitation in temporary labor camps, the handling and storage of anhydrous ammonia and pupwood logging.

Besides safety standards there are also federal regulations requiring employers who hire labor to post a special Department of Labor notice explaining employer - employee rights and obligations under OSHA. There are also rules requiring that records, available for federal inspections, be maintained on work related accidents except those needing only minor first aid.

A farm employer must also report to the nearest OSHA office any on the job fatality or accidents that hospitalizes five or more persons.

The Occupational Safety and Health Act provides for inspections of work places covered by the law and fines for violations of up to $10,000 and six months in jail.

Though the agricultural employers responsibilities under the law may not be as broad as some other industries, he still must provide a safe place to work and train his employees in safe work practices. It is the employer who bears the ultimate responsibility.

Last year, all farmers who hired one or more persons and payed Social Security, received a booklet from the Labor Department that contained the rules, records, and forms needed. However, you may have misplaced your copy. Please come by the Extension office and we will give you another copy of the booklet.

New Graham Film To Be Shown At Liberty

The latest Billy Graham film, Lost Generation, features special appearances by Art Linkletter and "Dragnet" star Jack Webb.

Linkletter, whose daughter Diane died as the result of the use of drugs, discusses drug usage in America, and points to what is being done voluntarily by many teen-agers to combat the problem. Webb states his views on the role of the police office and his relationship to the laws of our society.

Lost Generation, filmed in Eastmancolor by World Wide Pictures, is a probing documentary which takes a close look at the attitudes and morals of the Nation. Location filming was done in Alaska, the Southern states, on the farm and in the small towns of mid-America, and in the dying Haight-Ashbury hippie district of San Francisco.

Lost Generation will be shown on Sunday, August 20, 1972, at the Liberty Baptist church, 100 S. Church St., Appomattox, Va. There will be no admission charge for the 8:00 p.m. showing. The Reverend Richard C. Brackin, pastor of the church, extends a cordial invitation to the public.

Rev. & Mrs. Thomas A. Waddill

Couple Begins Mission In Zambia

The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas A. Waddill, of Marion, Va., were among 18 missionaries appointed Aug. 1 by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board during a meeting in Richmond, Va. Waddill, minister of music and education at Marion Baptist Church for the past five years, expects to do evangelistic work in Zambia.

He was minister of music and education at First Baptist Church, West Point, Va., for a year and a half prior to his current ministry, and earlier, pastor of Spout Spring Baptist Church in Appomattox County, Va. 1961-65.

Born in Albemarle County, Waddill grew up on a farm near Keysville, Va. He received the bachelor of science degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, and the bachelor of divinity degree from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Wake Forest, N.C.

He was a U.S.Air Force pilot on active duty for four years and reserve duty for two.

Mrs. Waddill is the former Lucille Howard of Duplin County, N.C. She attended Free Will Baptist Bible College, Nashville, Tenn., and studied nursing at Highsmith-Rainey Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Fayetteville, N.C. She is a registered nurse.

The couple met at a Baptist Church in Fayetteville soon after he received his pilot's wings. Married in November 1957, they volunteered for mission service the following year, during the December foreign mission emphasis in their church.

At the time of their marriage Mrs. Waddill was working in the operating room of the Highsmith-Rainey Memorial Hospital. She later held a similar position for several months at Duke University Medical Center, Durham, N.C. Since 1969 she has done part-time nursing at the Smyth County Community Hospital in Marion.

Waddill told Foreign Mission Board members of an experience last March which influenced him to seek missionary appointment. A World Missions Conference, directed by Waddill, was addressed by a missionary on furlough from Zambia.

"As he spoke on his work in Zambia, it seemed that God was saying, 'This is where I want you,'" Waddill related, "I immediately contacted the Foreign Mission Board and . . . since then I have felt sure that my decision was the right one."

The couple's three children are Tammy, 13, Howard, 8, and Sallie, 7.
